Dr. Asmaa El-Desouky: awareness post for a pediatric clinic

Are you paying attention to your child's health, or do you only worry when they get sick?

Caring for your child's health doesn't start when there's a fever or a cough.
It starts with simple habits built day after day.
Small things, but they make a real difference to their health:

Enough sleep
Balanced, varied meals
Daily movement and play
Drinking water regularly
Regular check-ups on physical and muscular development

Regular follow-up makes a difference to our children's growth, behavior, and smiles with Dr. Asmaa El-Desouky

Because your child's health deserves it.
